INVITATION FROM THE CO-CHAIRS

On behalf of the Executive Committee, we are delighted to invite you to join us for the upcoming Alliance for Healthy Cities Conference, themed “Healthy Cities for All: Equity, Innovation and Action.” This event will bring together thought leaders, practitioners, policymakers, and community advocates to explore how cities can become healthier, more inclusive, and resilient in the face of global challenges.

Healthy cities are not just an aspiration—they are a necessity. As 70% of the world’s population are expected to live in cities by 2050 and environmental pressures intensify, we must act decisively to ensure that health and well-being remain at the heart of urban development. This conference will provide a dynamic platform for sharing knowledge, showcasing innovation, and forging partnerships that translate ideas into action.

Your support as a sponsor or funding partner is vital to making this vision a reality. By partnering with us, you will help amplify solutions that address equity, climate resilience, and governance while empowering local leadership to drive meaningful change. Together, we can create cities that prioritise health for all, now and for generations to come.

2026 marks the 40-year anniversary of the Ottawa Charter for Health Promotion and the birth of the WHO Healthy Cities movement globally. We look forward to welcoming you to this transformative event and working with you to shape healthier, more sustainable urban futures.

Dr Jinhee Kim and Kelly Andrews
Conference Co-Chairs

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Alliance for Healthy Cities (AFHC), established in 2003 is an international network dedicated to promoting and protecting the health and well-being of urban populations. Originating from the World Health Organisation’s “Healthy Cities” initiative, the Alliance brings together over 250 local government and associate members committed to creating healthier, more sustainable urban environments.

This 11th Global Conference is a flagship international event of AFHC that brings together city leaders, public health experts, policymakers, academics, and community partners from around the world. The Conference serves as a vital platform to exchange ideas, share innovative practices, and strengthen collaboration toward building healthier, more resilient, and sustainable cities.

In September 2026, the Conference will be held at the University of New South Wales (UNSW, Sydney). It highlights emerging urban health challenges and celebrates the progress made through the Healthy Cities movement. Participants engage in keynote sessions, technical workshops, and networking opportunities that inspire practical actions and partnerships across sectors.

Previous Host Cities include:

- Kuching City, Sarawak, Malaysia
- Suzhou, China
- Ichikawa, Japan
- Seoul, Republic of Korea
- Brisbane, Australia
- Hong Kong, China
- Wonju, Republic of Korea

Celebrating 40 years

AUDIENCE

Participants represent a wide spectrum of the AFHC membership, which as of June 2025 includes 184 city members, 34 NGOs, 10 academic institutions, 6 national agencies, 2 private organisations, and 2 individual members. Delegates come from across the Asia-Pacific region—including Australia, Cambodia, China, Japan, the Republic of Korea, Malaysia, Mongolia, the Philippines, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, and Vietnam as well as from countries such as Brazil, Canada, France, India, Indonesia, Kenya, and the USA.

This vibrant gathering brings together visionary local government leaders, passionate public health professionals, forward-thinking urban planners, pioneering researchers, dedicated NGOs, and innovative private sector partners all united by a shared mission: to build healthier, more sustainable and inclusive cities for all.

PROGRAM

Main Theme

“Healthy Cities for All: Equity, Innovation and Action”

This theme emphasises creating inclusive, sustainable urban environments where health and well-being are prioritised for everyone. It calls for bold strategies that combine equity, cutting-edge solutions, and collaborative action to shape the cities of tomorrow in an ever-challenging environmental, political and economic landscape.

SPECIAL FOCUS: Celebrating 40 Years of the Ottawa Charter: From Vision to Action

The conference will commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Ottawa Charter for Health Promotion (WHO, 1986). The healthy cities movement originated from the Ottawa Charter, translating its principles into action at the local government level.

Sub-Themes

1. Indigenous and Traditional Knowledge Systems for Healthy Cities

Exploring how Indigenous and traditional knowledge systems can guide urban planning strategies rooted in respect for land, culture, and community. This perspective fosters holistic approaches that strengthen social and environmental resilience.

2. Liveable High Density and Urbanisation Challenges

Addressing the complexities of growing urban populations while ensuring liveability, access to green spaces, and community well-being. Innovative design and policy solutions are key to balancing density with quality of life.

3. Financing, Governance and Empowering Local Leadership

Examining models for sustainable funding and governance that enable equitable health outcomes in urban settings, while highlighting the critical role of local governments and communities in translating global health commitments into practical urban action. Cities are the frontline for implementing policies that drive real change.

4. Urban Climate Resilience and Planetary Health

Designing cities that adapt to climate change and environmental challenges while protecting planetary health for current and future generations. This approach integrates sustainability, resilience, and ecological stewardship into urban planning.

5. Demographic Change and Health Across the Life Course

Supporting the health and wellbeing of all generations through urban design and policy that responds to diverse needs from early childhood through to older age. This approach integrates accessibility, inclusivity, and intergenerational connection into urban planning.
